EXTENDED LIMITS TO CONFIDENTIALITY FOR EQUINE SESSIONS

There are some restraints to confidentiality associated with Equine Assisted Psychotherapy. Sessions are conducted in and around an active barn. Although the clinicians will do their best to safeguard client's confidentiality, possible interruptions or limits to confidentiality may occur due to events such as: veterinary visits, hay and feed delivery, property owner arriving or leaving, etc. It is the client's responsibility to make the clinician aware of any discomfort they may feel in such situations.

I, the undersigned, have read and do understand the above extended limits to confidentiality for equine assisted psychotherapy sessions.
